Adamjee Enterprises offers a wide range of Woven fabrics, Knitted fabrics and Made-Ups using its production facility of over 100,000 sq. ft.

BUSINESS NEED

Adamjee Enterprises has been investing in automating its operations for quite sometime. Considerable management time and effort was spent on account of distributed software applications which were either developed by independent professionals or technology start-ups.

Most of the work being done was controlled manually. However the organization had reached a stage where reliance on the existing systems and work procedures were to serve as a growth constraint and impediment.

Having experienced many vendors and software development life cycle the management was very clear on the functional requirements. However selecting the right product and consulting team to work with was the initial challenge. It was quite evident that Adamjee enterprises needed an integrated application solution to enable them to keep pace with the growth they were experiencing and to sustain the same.

The company needed to replace its existing systems with an integrated solution. These systems were based on a hybrid collection of custom and packaged application software, spreadsheet based and manual reporting. Additionally for the major areas production and warehousing all the work was based on spreadsheet record keeping to a major extent.

This entailed considerable management time in review, reconciliation, reporting and decision making. Apparently many of the typical modules offered by leading ERP systems, such as general ledger, accounts payable / receivables, purchasing and imports, work order management, inventory management, resource planning, requirements planning and more were required.

However the challenge was to come up with a solution which adheres to the Adamjee style of management practice.

Sidat Hyder - Information Solutions was selected to fulfill the needs.

Finished products, Work order management, Toll manufacturing, Costing and Exports.

After numerous simulation exercise and user acceptance and confidence the solution has been taken for live processing and has empowered the management at all levels to do more in less time and using the same resource pool.

The company has considerably reduced the time required to compile month end reports and has also improved upon its internal control procedures, thereby helping the management in better and informed decision making.
